Taft and Bryan Are Speaking in Their Own Home States Today-- Taft's Special is Almost Wreck

His Decisions Have Been Cited with Success by Union Labor in Support of Contentions Opposing Injunctions.

Sterling, O., Oct. 13.—The Taft special narrowly escaped a serious wreck. The forward trucks of the car "Constitution" left the rails while the train was running slowly. The Pullman also was derailed. Only the slow speed averted a disaster. Passengers were badly shaken but otherwise unhurt.

An iron bar, found beside the tracks, may indicate an attempt to wreck the train. Railroad officials think it merely an accident caused by spreading of rails. Senator Dick, Governor Harris, Senator Smith, of Michigan, and a score of prominent politicians were on the train.

Labor Decisions.
Seventeen Ohio towns heard and saw William H. Taft yesterday. He talked from Cincinnati to Akron, through a portion of the state conceded to have been a Foraker stronghold, with a portion of the territory Democratic.

The important speeches of the day were at Zanesville, Cambridge and Akron, where in each instance the candidate left the train to meet his audience. In his Zanesville speech, Mr. Taft went after both Mr. Bryan and Mr. Gompers.

"Mr. Bryan goes around the country saying I am the father of injunctions," declared Mr. Taft. "It is not true. I did not invent injunctions, or injunctions in labor disputes. But it is quite natural that Mr. Bryan should make the mistake, because in a letter he wrote to the district attorney of Belmont, O., he said he had not read my decisions."

Continuing, Mr. Taft gave great emphasis to what he regarded as the effect of the decisions he had rendered on the bench.

"I laid down the law and I laid down the principles," he said, "upon which the labor organizations in this country have since built up their prosperity and their usefulness, and instead of saying that I am an enemy, they recognize that I am one of the greatest benefactors labor has had. I decided a case against the Brotherhood of Engineers and the brotherhood condemned me."

"In four years they got into court in St. Louis and they had to cite my case to induce the court to withdraw the injunction there, because I had laid down the principles upon which they could organize, could have their officers, could raise their funds, could go on and conduct strikes under advice of the officers, and in that case they induced, on the authority of my decisions, the judge to withdraw his injunctions, and they went ahead and won the strike. That same thing occurred in a court in Cincinnati and a decision rendered in Chicago."

"If you will examine the cases you will find that instead of being an oppressor of labor I am its benefactor. I have been something besides a judge. I had 20,000 laborers under me on the Panama canal. Of course we had difficulties down there. We had the question of wages, and I decided against the laborers. What did they do? I gave them the reasons for deciding the way I did. Why, they elected me a member of their union. Why? Because I am fair to labor. Under that annulment the trades unions have doubled in this country—they never were in such a prosperous state; the American Federation of Labor has increased 100 per cent. Mr. Gompers' salary has been increased 50 per cent and I am glad of it."

"The labor organizations have never reached the point of usefulness before that they now have, although you would think from reading what Mr. Gompers has to say that they were in a condition of abject slavery. They have never exercised the useful influence or the power in protecting their own interest before as they have under the law as I laid it down some ten or fifteen years ago."

Bryan in Nebraska.
Norfolk, Neb., Oct. 13.—Bryan delivered 30 speeches in his home state today, the Democratic and Populist fusion candidates for state office accompanying him.

He discussed state issues largely and replied to points Governor Hughes raised in his recent tour of Nebraska.

Bryan Attacks Hughes.
In an address at the State university W. J. Bryan attacked the arguments of Governor Hughes, of New York in defense of the Republican platform.

"Governor Hughes, of New York, has been put forward as the champion of the Republican party to attack the Democratic remedy for the trusts."

is not in sympathy with western reforms, you will recall that he vetoed a two-cent passenger rate and he did this in spite of the fact that a Republican legislature of New York passed the bill. The governors in the western states signed this bill and we are now enjoying the benefits of the two-cent fare.

"New York is more quickly settled than the western states, and yet he gave the benefit of the doubt to the railroads. I will not say that he did this because of the contributions made to his campaign fund by Morgan, Depew, the Vanderbilts and one of the Goulds. It is not necessary to assume that these contributions had any effect on his action. It is enough to know that he did not act on this subject as Republican governors in the west acted, and I care not what explanation his friends may make."

"If they say that he decided in favor of the railroads, without any reference to the contributions made by the railroads, it simply shows that he looks at questions from the standpoint of the railroad rather than from the standpoint of the patrons."

"It is not strange that he should oppose the Democratic trust question, for he has never shown any interest in the correction of the evils that the trusts have brought on the country. I will not say that this partiality for the trusts is due to the contributions made to his campaign fund by Carnegie, Schwab, Gates, Havemeyer, Duke and others. I will not assume that these contributions influenced him at all."

BALLOON FALLS.

Berlin, Oct. 13.—The balloon St. Louis, one of the three American contestants in the balloon race, fell into the North sea 30 miles off shore from Heligoland, H. N. Arnold, pilot, and H. G. Hewat, assistant, were nearly drowned. A German steamer saw the accident and picked up the victims. It was the third accident. The Conqueror exploded and Mantana, the Spanish balloon, fell last night.

BULGARIAN ARMY READY TO FIGHT AGAINST TURKEY

Sofia, Oct. 13.—All the army reserves of Bulgaria are called to arms. The new government insists it will declare war against Turkey unless she recognizes her independence within three days. Bulgarians believe Turkey is playing a waiting game, hoping the powers will intervene, and don't propose thus to lose their independence.

Suits Filed.
Mrs. Ella Puryear filed suit against J. K. Bondurant for $355 claimed due on account.

Willson at Murray

A private letter received from Governor Willson says he will speak at Paducah and Murray.

Tobacco Sales

Two good sales of association tobacco were made at the Paducah salesroom today. W. S. Matthews' Sons, Hopkinsville brokers, bought 99 hogsheads of leaf at prices ranging from 8 to 12 1/2 cents. A Clarksville broker bought 30 hogsheads of leaf at prices ranging from 8 to 11 cents.

Breaks Arm Skipping Rope

Sharp, Ky., Oct. 13. (Special.)—While skipping the rope during the recess this morning, little Miss Mary McCall caught her foot in the rope and was thrown. Her left arm just above the wrist was broken. Dr. O. A. Eddleman reduced the fracture.

Graham at Little Cypress

J. Will Graham, candidate for congressman from the first district on the Populist ticket, will speak tomorrow afternoon at the school house at Little Cypress, Marshall county. The speaking will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Graham has extended an invitation to any candidate to meet him on the stump.

Thaw Will Get Free

New York, Oct. 13.—Roger O'Mara, Thaw's trustee, secured an order from the federal court at Scranton, directing Thaw's appearance in the bankruptcy proceedings. It will be served on the Mattewan authorities today. It is expected they will obey and take Thaw to Pennsylvania. Habeas corpus proceedings will then be instituted to secure his release, claiming he is not insane.

ORCHARD OF MRS. MARY CHESTERFIELD IS DESTROYED BY FIRE--8,000 TREES

Tobacco Barn Threatened by Flames and Pasture Land Burned Over.

Sharp, Ky., Oct. 13. (Special.)—With hard work a fire was extinguished last night after it had burned an orchard and meadow since Sunday. The orchard of Mrs. Mary Chesterfield, of Paducah, was practically ruined, and a pasture field of Monroe Rice was badly damaged. Barns and houses had narrow escapes from burning, and the volunteer firemen did valiant work, and the fire caused a loss of not more than $2,000.

The fire started Sunday afternoon, presumably caused by some one dropping a match in the dry grass. The orchard of Mrs. Chesterfield comprised 100 acres, and about 8,000 trees were planted in it. It cannot be ascertained whether all of the trees are killed, but it is certain that many were destroyed. The orchard was 5 years old. The farmers prevented a spread of the fire by plowing around the orchard, and the fencing was saved. The fire burned within 50 yards of a large tobacco barn of W. A. Heron before the blaze was checked. The barn had many hundred pounds of new tobacco stored in it. Many of the rail fences were saved from burning by removing the rails from the path of the fire, while some panels of paling fence were burned before they could be removed.

AUSTRIA AGREES TO PAY TURKEY FOR ANNEXATION

London, Oct. 13.—The war cloud is disappearing. Austria has informed the foreign office she is willing to participate in an international conference to settle the Balkan squabble. While Austria is determined to retain Bosnia and Herzegovina, she is willing to indemnify Turkey. It is believed this will satisfy all the powers.

ORDERS HELD UP CONDITIONAL ON TAFT'S ELECTION

Chicago Business Houses Begin to Feel Lack of Confidence in Mr. Bryan.

Certain His Election Will Interrupt Resumption.

INTERVIEWS OF MERCHANTS

Chicago, Oct. 13.—In the opinion of Chicago merchants, manufacturers and bankers, business resumption in the United States depends upon the election of William H. Taft to the presidency.

It was disclosed yesterday, as an illustration of what the arguments of many of Chicago's leading citizens are based upon, that contracts for delivery of large orders of merchandise or manufactured articles are being made contingent upon the success of the Republican ticket November 3.

Several commercial leaders stated that they had such orders in their possession which were given with the provision that they might be canceled if Mr. Bryan should triumph at the polls. Among Chicago merchants who averred this, he the fact were John V. Farwell, of J. V. Farwell & Co., wholesale dry goods merchants, and Enos M. Barton, president of the Western Electric company.

Bankers Also Testify.
Bankers, among them James B. Forgan, president of the First National bank; George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental, and George E. Roberts, president of the Commercial National, reported that they had knowledge of such a contingency in the business outlook of the nation. All stated that the election of Mr. Bryan would have a depressive effect, whereas the election of Mr. Taft would restore confidence and actuate business men to push industry and trade along all lines.

That the country is greater than Mr. Bryan or any political party is the conviction of many leading citizens, but the nation, they argue, is in a condition where it needs demand for trade if recuperation in business is to come in the near future.

John V. Farwell, in commenting on the business condition as related to the election result, asserted emphatically that the election of Mr. Taft was the only outcome that would restore business confidence.

Cites Own Observation.
"Our firm," said Mr. Farwell, "has received numbers of orders that have been made conditional upon the election of Mr. Taft. I believe, judging from the general attitude of business men throughout the country and from my own experience in business transactions in the last few months, that the election of Mr. Bryan would result in cancellation of business orders in all lines of trade. With the election of Mr. Taft the business men of the nation would feel satisfied to go ahead and push things and confidence would accumulate rapidly."

"In business, as every one knows, confidence is everything. The people must know what the government is going to do in order that they may have confidence. The government must have the right man in the right place if business is to rally and our commercial affairs return to their normal status."

"If we do not have that it is certain that money will not be invested for a long time, at least until the country learns what the change of administration is to bring forth."

Sees General Stagnation.
"I do not believe that the deterrent effect of Bryan's election would be as disastrous as it would have been in 1896. This much is certain, however: It would cause a general closing down everywhere because there would exist no demand. We are not in a condition where we can stand such an undesirable development. We want things the other way. Business needs the demand and we must have it if it is to pick up. The election of Taft will inject life into trade beyond any doubt."

James B. Forgan is firmly of the belief that the election of Bryan would bring business to a standstill in the country, and he has many assurances of that fact from large capitalists, manufacturers and merchants with whom he has discussed the political outlook.

"There is absolutely no doubt," said Mr. Forgan, "that the election of Mr. Bryan would bring business to a standstill. There is also no doubt that such a political result would keep business at a standstill for some time to come."

Business Men Cautious.
"Business men, as a rule, are opposed to Mr. Bryan's theories and are afraid of his suggestions. Should he

LABOR FOR TAFT.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 13.—Thomas L. Lewis, national president of the United Mine Workers of America, has enlisted in the Taft cause, and says that the miners will support Taft almost to a man. He said: "While I am not like Mr. Gompers, in a position to hand over the voters of the organization of which I am the head, I believe our hopes lie in the election of Taft, and, furthermore, I am satisfied in my mind that he will win a decisive victory over Bryan. I have been over Maryland, West Virginia and Missouri, and have sounded the workmen in these places. In each case the sentiment for Taft has been greater than I expected it to be, and there appears to be no doubt of the Republicans carrying these places. As for Ohio and such states, it is a mere matter of majority."

SPEED MANIAC IS TREATED GENTLY BUT TO NO AVAIL

For making a speedway of Broadway and other streets, Fred M. Murden, a young chauffeur from Chicago, was fined $5 and costs in the police court this morning. Murden arrived from Chicago and claimed to be an expert tester, and was employed by a Paducah firm. He took a large touring car and ran down Broadway at a speed equal to forty miles an hour witnesses declare. The machine ran too fast to distinguish the number, but Patrolman Carter found Murden, and he was cited to appear in court. Murden claimed he was ignorant of the city ordinance, regulating the speed of autos. At noon yesterday Murden was in the machine again, and ran it out Jefferson at a terrific speed and landed in a ditch, but it was not damaged. On South Fifth street yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock the machine was whizzing like a passenger train, and Patrolman Harley got after him. Murden was en route south for his health, and it is said that he has left Paducah. The small fine was paid by the electrical firm.

ELKINS--ABRUZZI MARRIAGE PLANS TALKED TO DEATH

Rome, Oct. 13.—The announcement that the engagement of Katherine Elkins to Duke de Abruzzi is broken is generally accepted as true in court circles. Constant discussion in Europe and America is believed to have caused the disruption. It is understood that even Abruzzi, who defied all opposition, now appreciates the hopelessness of the situation.

SENATOR W. O. BRADLEY SAYS THAT HE HAS NOT DESERTED HIS FREE SILVER FALLACY

Pictures Candidate as Doctor Who Prescribed for Civic Ills With His Nos-trums.

ADDRESSES HIMSELF TO GRAVES COUNTY FARMERS AND ASKS THEM IF THEY REALLY WANT A CHANGE

Fully 2,000 people were crowded into the court room at Mayfield yesterday afternoon, when Senator W. O. Bradley and Jerry M. Porter, Republican candidate for congress in the first district, addressed Graves county citizens. Practically all the audience were farmers and half must have been Democrats. The audience played close attention and showed great enthusiasm. Senator Bradley's remarks were on those issues, which appeal most strongly to the farmer, and he made a distinct hit at the opening by complimenting Graves county on keeping down lawlessness. He said he congratulated himself that he belonged to a party whose governor is using every effort to stamp out lawlessness and whose speakers, without exception, denounce night riding. Then he said he is the friend of the farmer. He renewed his pledge that when he goes into the senate he will get enacted a law repealing the six cent tax on tobacco.

Had he not feared the effect on his voice, already showing signs of huskiness, Senator Bradley would have spoken out doors, and would have secured an audience twice the size of the one in the court room, as the town was full of people. The court room was packed at 12 o'clock and the speaking did not begin until 1:30. During the morning there were hundreds of callers on Senator Bradley and Mr. Porter at their hotel.

Hon. J. C. Speight introduced Mr. Porter, who got the audience in a good humor by his characteristic witticisms. He then introduced Senator Bradley, who launched into a discussion of the issues.

After declaring that he would vote to repeal the six cent tax on tobacco Senator Bradley said the reason it has not been repealed is that Kentucky has had Democratic senators who did not know how to get the law passed. It has gone through the house three times, he said, and has been sidetracked in the senate. He believes he will be able to get it through.

The trouble with Kentucky, he said, is the trouble with the entire south. The people have been electing to the senate and to congress men opposed to carrying out the principles of the Republican party. The humiliating position of the south is due to the fact that a lot of people don't know the war is over. They carry worn-out prejudices to their own hurt. The trouble is all over, he said. We should think only of the good of the country.

He said he had been a Fairbanks man, but when his party decided on Taft, he did not think he was wiser than his party, and is now supporting Taft, and he called on all Fairbanks men to do the same.

"Now, all of you want to vote right, don't you?" he asked. "If there is a man here who doesn't want to vote right, I will excuse him. I am not talking to him."

"Well, how are we going to know how to vote right? In the first place, no one believes that if either party is successful the government will be overturned. All fears are past. Government is a matter of business, and we have to inquire only as to which party will be best for the country."

Records of Parties.
"Now, if one party for more than forty years has been constantly in the wrong and the other party for the same period has always, or nearly always, been right, won't that fact help some in deciding? Let us review the parties from a few years before the civil war. We'll take the Democratic party first. It stood for state sovereignty and for human

Chicago, Oct. 13.—Detroit became a real contender when it defeated ball championship when it defeated Chicago, 8 to 3.

Counting the world's series of last year, the victory was the first Detroit has scored in eight contests for the highest prize in the baseball world. Mullin, pitching for Detroit, was steady throughout the game, holding Chicago to seven scattered hits and passing only one man. Pfister's left-handed shock, for the most part, failed to puzzle the Michigan batsmen. Besides issuing three passes, he was hit safely for thirteen times, two of them being doubles, and six occurring in one inning.

Detroit was two runs behind Chicago when the sixth inning opened, and then the Tigers came across the plate in a procession. The crowd demanded the retirement of Pfister but Manager Chance ignored the request.

Cobb Was Star.
Tyrus Cobb was easily the star batter of the day, his average being .808. He not only batted like the natural hitter he is, but ran bases like a flash.

Out of five times up he hit safely four times, made one run himself and batted in two more of Detroit's runs. Only 14,543 paid admissions were registered at the turnstiles.

First Inning.
Detroit: McIntyre ground out; O'Leary was safe on a liner to Steinfeldt. Crawford swung hard, but the ball dropped in front of the plate and Kling threw him out; O'Leary going to second. Cobb's "Texas Leaguer" scored O'Leary. Rossman went out; Chicago: Schreckard struck out; Evers fouled out; Schulte singled but was caught stealing.

Second and Third.
Detroit: Schaefer out at first; Thomas and Coughlin went out. Chicago: Chance flew out; Steinfeldt and Hoffman struck out.

Third.—Detroit: Mullin was caught at first; McIntyre and O'Leary fled out.

Chicago: Tinker singled but went out trying to steal second; Kling grounded out and Pfister struck out.

Fourth.—Detroit: Crawford singled but was forced at second by Cobb. Rossman lined to Evers, whose quick throw to Chance doubled Cobb at first.

Chicago: Schreckard struck out. Evers got to first on balls. Mullin caught Evers off first, but the runner raced to second and was safe. Schaefer, by a jump, barely managing to stop Rossman's high throw. Schulte fouled out. Chance scored Evers with a single over second and a moment later stole that base himself. Steinfeldt got first and Chance scored. Steinfeldt, meanwhile reaching second and scored on Hoffman's triple. Tinker was retired.

Fifth.—Detroit: Tinker took Schaefer's pop fly and threw Thomas out.

CARPET and RUG ECONOMY DOES NOT MEAN BUY THE CHEAPEST

IT'S POOR economy to buy Rugs and Carpets from the "cheap place" or from a place that you know little or nothing about. There is no branch of the mercantile business that requires more study and more experience before perfection is reached than Carpets, Rugs and Matting. You can't buy a Carpet or Rug from "Tom, Dick and Harry" and expect it to give as much satisfaction as your neighbors, who bought theirs from the firm that makes this branch of their business a life study. We use expert experience in buying. Every Carpet or Rug that comes into our house comes direct from the mills, with their stamp of guarantee back of it—just as it goes out of our house with our stamp of guarantee back of it. We use expert experience in selling also, thus we can aid you in your selection and give our candid opinion whether you should have a light or dark Velvet or Axminster.

By this we have built up the largest Carpet business in Western Kentucky, and, also by dealing fair and square with our trade.

This week we are holding a Special Carpet Sale and invite you to call on us and look into our claims.

L. B. Ogilvie & Co.

at first. Coughlin struck out.

Chicago: O'Leary batted Kling's grounder and the latter was safe; Pfister struck out, Schreckard forced Kling and was doubled.

Fatal Sixth.

Detroit: Mullin walked, and then went to second on McIntyre's single. O'Leary bunted to Pfister who threw to third too late to catch Mullin, leaving the bases full. Crawford's grounder was too hot for Chance and Mullin scored. Cobb chopped a bounder over Pfister's head and beat it out when Tinker fell going after it. McIntyre scored on the hit. Rossman singled, scoring O'Leary and Crawford putting Cobb on third. Schaefer fled to Hoffman who made a great throw to the plate, catching Cobb. Rossman went to second on the throw and scored on Thomas' double to right. Coughlin, out at first.

Chicago: Evers and Schulte out at first. Chance singled, then stole second. Steinfeldt struck out.

Seventh and Eighth.

Detroit: Mullin fled to Tinker, McIntyre walked, O'Leary grounded to Chance and Crawford flew out.

Chicago: Hoffman singled. (Real back sent out to warm up.) Tinker struck out. Kling forced Hoffman and doubled.

Eighth.—Detroit: Cobb doubled to left and went to third when Rossman beat out a bunt. Schaefer fled to Coughlin and threw home, which held Cobb at third and Rossman went to second. Thomas walked, filling the bases. Coughlin sacrificed, scoring Cobb, but threw to Steinfeldt and held Rossman on second. Mullin's hit was too hot for Chance and Rossman scored from second. Thomas going to second. McIntyre went out. Steinfeldt to Chance.

Chicago: Howard, who batted for Pfister, went out. Schaefer to Rossman. Schreckard out at same place; Evers flew to Crawford.

Ninth.

Ninth—Detroit: (Ruelbach pitching) O'Leary fled to Chance. Hoffman took Crawford's long drive. Cobb singled and stole second and third. Rossman walked. Rossman and Cobb started a double steal while Ruelbach held the ball, but Cobb was run down when Ruelbach threw to Kling, and Kling to Steinfeldt.

Chicago: Schulte and Chance flew to Crawford. Steinfeldt singled to left, was allowed to steal second, and O'Leary threw Hoffman out at first.

WRONG MAN

ARRESTED AT GREENFIELD, TENN., FOR MURDER.

J. C. Henderson Got Doped and "Came To" to Find Himself a Suspect.

The Paducah police have learned that J. C. Henderson, who waived examination for stealing a horse and buggy from Hawley & Sons, is not the Floyd Snyder wanted at Dawson Springs for the murder of John Holman. Henderson was arrested at Greenfield, Tenn., and has been returned to Paducah. The police thought they had a real bad man, but Patrolman Morris, who knows Snyder, said Henderson was not the man. Henderson does not appear to have full reason, and he says he was doped and not responsible for his actions.

GIGANTIC DISSOLUTION SALE!

ALL men's and boys' Winter Clothing, Shoes and Furnishings will be sold at prices that do not cover even half the cost of material. Not a garment in our mammoth stock of new and seasonable merchandise will be reserved in this colossal sacrifice sale, which will only last until we have raised money enough to pay our retiring partner for his interest in the firm—so take advantage of this golden opportunity Thursday, for during your lifetime you will never be able to buy clothing at such a tremendous sacrifice again.

The store will be closed Tuesday and Wednesday in order that stock may be taken, opening Thursday morning at nine, when our stupendous sale starts. This will positively be the greatest exposition of values ever given the people of Kentucky. Don't confuse our Gigantic Dissolution Sale with any of the many hundred fake sales of inflated values put on yearly to catch the unwary public. It costs you nothing to test our sincerity looking over our $60,000 stock of seasonable merchandise. We know if you look you'll buy, as our store is literally alive with such bargains as 25c Boston Garters for 4c pair. Only one pair sold to a customer.

The firm's methods have always been confidence-inspiring, because they are based on the principles of square dealing. Every patron understands that a purchase made here carries with it the firm's warrant of satisfaction or money back.

Daily Thought.

Prayer is the breath of God in man. Returning whence it came.

What are we going to do about teachers' salaries?

Farmers are prosperous and when their tobacco is sold, collections will be good in the dark tobacco district.

The Courier-Journal special from Indianapolis yesterday morning said the Bryan wave was a ripple and the state is for Taft. The Commercial Appeal special from Chicago said it is admitted that Hughes hint Bryan in the west. Now that is giving unnecessary and premature pain. After claiming everything from Maine to California, what's the use of giving out three weeks before the election?

THE LESSON FROM DUN'S REVIEW.

Dun's Review of Saturday says: "Substantial progress toward industrial recovery was made during the past week, a very large number of wage earners resuming work in the mills. Yet the resumption was by no means uniform many undertakings being deferred until after the election."

Let us analyze that. A world-wide panic has laid us in its grip for a year, but the United States is recovering first and evidences of recovery have been manifest since early spring. No one has doubted the resumption. During the panic prices held up, wages remained up and farm products actually have advanced. The principal, if not the only effect on trade, was the sudden determination of an extravagant people to economize and difficulty in collections, a difficulty that is just now aggravated by deferred sales of tobacco in this section.

Now with resumption taking place and workmen resuming their old employment at the American wage scale, isn't that evidence that conditions for resumption are right and that a radical change

In governmental policies, the introduction of new and untried men in the executive department and congress would be hazardous. If not actually disastrous?

That change would come with Bryan, who advocated the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of sixteen to one; and government ownership of railroads; and was one of the framers of the Wilson-Gorman tariff that produced the free soup, instead of free trade and free silver under the Cleveland administration. Can you afford to risk him right at this juncture?

What does he advocate? Cutting down the tariff, regardless of everything. He favors compelling a man, who controls the 25 per cent. of a product, and that includes inventors to take out a government license, and compelling him to stop when he controls 50 per cent of the product. To do that a system of federal espionage would be necessary; for no man would voluntarily limit himself. What chances for graft on the part of Bryan's industrial spies!

He favors guaranty of deposits in speculating banks. By his system, if a reckless fellow entered the banking business and offered one per cent more on deposits than a good banker could afford to pay, his depositors would be guaranteed by an assessment on the good banker, and the business would go to the reckless speculator, who would use the deposits in his own reckless, private enterprises, probably stock gambling. How long would that system last? Wouldn't it be better to insure the bank's loans?

Bryan favors a law prohibiting a man selling anything cheaper in one place than another taking into consideration the cost of transportation. He doesn't say anything about preventing collusion between the man and a transportation line, whereby the man gets his goods shipped cheaper than his competitor. He wants to destroy trusts by reducing the tariff on trust made goods, necessarily destroying all the weak competitors of the trust, because his scheme is to bring cheap foreign goods into the market to compete with the trust and also small American manufacturers who would have to reduce the cost of the articles, and necessarily reduce wages of their employees.

Bryan favors free silver, so far as the last word he has said on the subject goes.

Now, do you think, in view of what Dun's Review says about resumption taking place under the Republican policies and the matters deferred until after election, that you really want a change?

As the Rev. Lyman Abbott says, we know what Taft will do, by what he has done. His views have found concrete expression in public acts. We know, who his advisers will be; because we know who they are. Now there are Hughes, Roosevelt, Root and the others. Are they not patriots, proven such, and courageous in right doing? Are they not sound and conservative, and is any one of them more conservative than Taft?

The American people want no change.

THE PRESS AND PUBLIC SENTIMENT.

The Courier-Journal thinks western Kentucky lacks a "wholesome sentiment." Newspapers are responsible to a great degree for public sentiment. The Sun has taken care of this immediate vicinity; but The Sun charges that the Democratic press of the Purchase, where it has not openly espoused the night rider cause, has encouraged it, wittingly or unwittingly, first by failing to speak out against lawlessness when it appeared; secondly by publishing prejudiced articles; thirdly by suppressing and denying outrages, and last of all by failing to demand the vigorous enforcement of exact justice, which the Courier-Journal says would indicate a "wholesome sentiment."

The Sun, and then the Louisville papers, dragged the ugly truth to the light in the face of the denial of little local papers. It was not until soldiers came and the information was wide-spread that the western Kentucky press was forced to give even partial news of the outrages.

Now the Courier-Journal charges that: "The failure of local officers to apprehend and convict night riders has been due entirely to the absence of determination upon the part of officers to administer the law, coupled with an absence of a wholesome sentiment upon the part of a majority of the citizens to see it enforced."

We disagree with the Courier-Journal. The majority is not entirely lacking in that "wholesome sentiment," but the majority has been permitting night rider dominated primaries to name its ticket and then voting for it. It is not necessary that a majority of a party membership favor lawlessness if a compact faction dominates the organization and the majority has more regard for party success than for good government.

Of course, the night riders attach themselves to the majority party in order to secure control of the offices. Look at the list of their political friends:

Democratic governor, acquiescing.
Democratic legislature sympathizing.
Democratic press concealing facts.
Democratic county officers protecting.
Democratic courts acquitting.
Democratic congressmen making speeches for them.
Who are their political enemies?—Republican governor using the forces of the state to run them down.
Republican press exposing them.
Republican candidates denouncing them.
On which side are you?

ORDERS HELD UP

be elected to the presidency they would remain dormant in business until they could be assured what he would do in office. They would invest no money in new enterprises, and not only that, they would not push enterprises in which they already are engaged. There is no doubt of it, in my opinion, and the opinion of hundreds of men with whom I have talked.

Bankers in general are much interested in the important subject of business and its fate in the election day balance held in the hands of the voters of the country. George E. Roberts, president of the Commercial National bank, said:

"I have heard frequent reports of late from men in all lines of trade and industry that business revival will depend upon the election of Mr. Taft to the presidency. Many cases have come to me of large orders being placed with various industrial firms to be delivered in the event of the election of Mr. Taft and to be canceled in any other event."

Calls Feeling General.
"There is no doubt that this is the general feeling throughout the country, and if Mr. Taft is elected everything will be in readiness to go ahead on progressive lines."

"On the other hand, should Mr. Bryan be elected there will be general hesitation. Business men would wait on each other. Everywhere men would be thus disposed, and with men waiting thus upon each other the effect inevitably would be a general postponement of activity."

George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental National bank, who recently returned from abroad, asserted that while he had been out of touch with American business conditions for several months, the general impression at home and abroad was that prosperity depended upon the success of the Republican ticket at the polls.

"The general impression," said Mr. Reynolds, "that with the election of Taft there would come a business revival. On the other hand, the feeling is that the election of Bryan and change of administration, even regardless of men's attitude toward Bryan's principles, would necessitate long delay in business activity. Business men unquestionably would wait until they found out what would be the effect of this change in administration."

Industrial Interests, Too.

"Besides merchants and bankers, men in industrial walks of life are of the same mind. A few who have spoken on the subject reflect the opinions of others in the industrial world, with whom they are in constant business communication."

Enos M. Barton, president of the Western Electric company, one of the greatest manufacturing institutions in the west, employing thousands of men, declared that the election of Bryan would have an unfavorable effect on the great industrial enterprise which he heads.

"We have received," said Mr. Barton, "some orders recently that have been carried in case Bryan should be elected. We know that such a result of the election would have an unfavorable effect on our business. There is absolutely no doubt about that. How long a depression of business would continue I am unable, of course to predict. I think that the country is greater and stronger than Bryan or any political party and that matters would eventually adjust themselves."

On American Securities.
"I have talked with persons who have declared that one of the effects of Bryan's election would be the return of large amounts of American securities held in Europe. How much that would amount to I do not know. Business men will have more confidence if Taft is elected and business will recover more rapidly. The election of Bryan undoubtedly will have a depressing effect upon trade generally."

Clyde M. Carr, vice president of J. T. Ryerson & Sons, manufacturers of iron, steel and machinery, was another prominent manufacturer to discuss the outlook yesterday.

"In case of the election of Mr. Taft," said he, "business will undoubtedly pick up in the near future—much more rapidly than it would should Mr. Bryan be chosen president. In the latter case people would naturally be disposed to hold off in the undertaking of business ventures which amounted to much. Activity would be deferred along all lines. The country will strike its stride sooner if Taft is elected."

Another illustration of the prevailing feeling regarding the election and the business outlook was furnished by a prominent Chicago business man who was discussing affairs of the country at dinner the other evening with a silk manufacturer of Pittsburgh.

Felt in the East.
"In reply to an inquiry as to trade with him," this business man stated, "he said that orders were coming in liberally, but that a large proportion were conditional upon Taft's election. I have heard also that many other firms were getting considerable business upon similar terms."

"From general reports it seems that, unquestionably, the business community is imbued with faith that if Taft is elected the time will have come to push the business. On the other hand, regardless of personal political views, there is a feeling that if Bryan is elected there will be an indefinite postponement of plans, each man waiting to see what the others will do."

Charles A. Stevens, president of Charles A. Stevens & Brothers, is in accord with the feeling expressed by the Pittsburgh silk manufacturer. "There is no question whatever that the election of Bryan," said Mr. Stevens, "will result in business hesitancy. It would result in the adoption of curbed business policy all along the line. There is no doubt in the business man's mind that if Taft is elected business will begin to pick up and rapidly return to a normal condition. That is the situation generally. We can feel it and see it on every hand."

From Packers' Viewpoint.

J. Ogden Armour, president of Armour & Co., said of the situation: "I have heard personally of no large business orders made contingent upon Mr. Taft's election, but, from what I know of the general feeling regarding the political outlook, I believe that such orders have been placed with business houses. I believe the election of Mr. Bryan would deter business most decidedly."

"As to the effect upon business of the election of Mr. Bryan," said A. C. Bartlett, president of Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., "whatever might be the final result it naturally would have a disturbing influence. Changes of policy are always disturbing. A reason why business would be depressed upon business is that business men, as far as I know, have not any too much confidence in Mr. Bryan's theories."

WHY COLE'S HOT BLAST

Is Supreme Over All Heating Stoves.

Every part of Cole's Hot Blast Heater is a stove masterpiece. And government patents permit them on Cole's Hot Blast only. Every little detail contributes towards making Cole's Hot Blast the fuel saver, a perfect heat radiator, a stove that holds fire from Saturday night to Monday morning, and the cleanest stove ever set up.

Read this detailed story of a heating marvel and you will see why we can back Cole's Hot Blast with the iron-clad guarantee we give every purchaser. You will see why 60,000 Cole's Hot Blasts are made and shipped by the Cole Manufacturing Co. each year, three times the annual output of any other one make of heaters. You will see why they are detaching all would-be rivals in the heating stove trade with a business growing by leaps and bounds each season—why we can sell you a greater bargain than any one.

The Hot Blast Draft

This is a view of the stove with a hole cut in the side to show how the Hot Blast makes perfect combustion.

In an ordinary stove gas, which is half the heat value of coal, arises from the coal as the coal burns and the gas goes right on up the chimney. Not so with Cole's Hot Blast Heater. The Hot Blast Draft on top of the fire burns the coal from the top—burns the gas. Thus a given amount of coal gives off twice as much heat as in an ordinary heater.

Air-Tight Construction

Anything less than an air-tight construction means that the stove is getting draft through cracks, seams or openings, even when the draft is closed. So the air-tight feature will prove the supremacy of Cole's Hot Blast over all other stoves as to perfect fire holding and heat control.

Note this picture of bottom of the stove where draft enters. See the water-tight bottom, the patented compound hinges making possible a perfect ground surface where draft is resisted. It is automatic in its closing, cannot be warped by the heat so as to leak air and needs only the force of gravity to keep it closed and air-tight. The cut also shows the patented steel collar fastening the casting to the steel body of the stove. This patented feature gives the only way in which casting can be connected to sheet metal so as to stay tight. It is used only on this stove. Every detail government patented. So you had them only on Cole's Hot Blast.

Radiation—Durability

The Hot Blast is one which radiates all the heat thrown off from the fuel into the rooms instead of letting it go up the chimney, and one which will withstand the severe use year after year which a heating stove is necessarily subjected to.

Sheet metal is the most sensitive radiating surface. Cast iron withstands the wear and tear of the heat from the active combustion better than other material.
You will see from a glance at the accompanying cut that practically the entire radiating surface of this remarkable stove is sensitive sheet metal and at the same time is fully protected from the active combustion by a heavy cast iron fire pot, a nest from flaring extending 7 inches above the fire pot and with a heavy inner steel lining extending from the cast iron to the top of the stove.

There are 3651 square inches of steel radiating surface in a 24-inch Cole's Hot Blast as compared with 1766 in a base burner with the same size fire pot.

Cleanliness—Easy to Care For Users of coal must remember that the ordinary heater is a big care to operate. That is smoke and ashes entail dusting, curtain washing and carpet sweeping. Think then of the ease of operation and the cleanliness of Cole's Hot Blast.

Cole's Hot Blast has a smoke-proof feed door—located at the top of the stove as shown in illustration. Open the feed door and the current of air draws the smoke directly across the stove to the stovepipe—away from the opening. Contrast this simple, clearly feed with the side door in an ordinary heater. The side door permits escape of dirty smoke, unpleasant gas and accumulated soot drops from it. If you overfill a side door, stove coal falls to the floor. And note this, you cannot make a side door heater air-tight—an everlasting advantage in favor of Cole's Hot Blast which is air-tight and guaranteed to remain so always.

CLEANEST ASH REMOVER

There are no escaping ashes or dust as the hot blast sets clear under the casting and the patented dust less ash cover or hood keeps down every particle of dust. By this arrangement the fire pot sets close to the floor and warms it—there are no leaky joints around ash doors and absolute cleanliness is possible.

Beautiful in Appearance

Cole's Hot Blast is a beautifully ornamented and beautifully proportioned stove. The beautifully ornamental necked parts are copper plated before being nickel plated. There are no cracks or seams to open and leak dirt over different parts of the stove. You will find your stove just as tight and clean and will treasure it as much in ten years as when put up.

We guarantee to do what we say we do. Here is the "show me" black and white guarantee—the most binding—most remarkable, ever made on a stove:

Now Sum It All Up

You are authorized to sell the Original Cole's Hot Blast Heater this year on the most rigid guarantee ever made by any manufacturer. Our guarantee to every customer of yours is—
1—That Cole's Hot Blast will use less hard coal for heating a given space than any base burner made with same size fire pot.
2—That the rooms can be heated from one to two hours each morning with the soft coal or hard coal put in the stove the evening before.
3—That the stove will hold fire with soft coal from Saturday night until Monday morning.
4—A uniform heat day and night, with soft coal, hard coal or lignite.
5—That every stove will remain absolutely air-tight as long as used.
6—That the feed-door is and will remain smoke and dust-proof.
7—That the stove shall be operated according to directions and set up with a good flue.

SPLENDID

Testimony to Esteem of Public Was This.

The crowd that attended Wallerstein's opening last night, in celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the foundation of the firm was splendid testimony to the esteem in which it is held. The hour for opening the handsome store was fixed at 7 o'clock but before that time the entrance was blocked by a throng of eager people. The store was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the members of the firm and employees, in evening dress, welcomed the guests. Deal's orchestra rendered a very attractive musical program and souvenirs were given the visitors. There must have been 10,000 people called during the evening and all day today many who did not get down town last night have called to pay their respects.

Mr. Stanley Evans broke his left wrist in a fall yesterday afternoon while at work near Barlow, Ballard county.

Quick Delivery Service

The fact that one is in need of medicine seems to us an indication that they want it at once and, for that reason, we have especially equipped ourselves to make deliveries immediately upon receipt of orders, either by phone or in person.

Lemans, France, Oct. 13.—Wilbur Wright has announced he will attempt an aeroplane flight with wings attached to the machine. He will discard his motor. He will make a flight at a height of 3,000 feet. All former experiments have been at a height of 75 feet.

English Winner

Berlin, Oct. 12.—The English balloon Hansher, John Danville, pilot, landed in Denmark, 300 miles from the start. It is the winner. Several balloons are unreported. It is feared they were swept seaward. A fleet of boats is searching the North sea to render assistance.

THIRD STORY ADDED TO BUILDING AT MAYFIELD.

Plans are being drawn in the office of Architect A. L. Lassiter for a third story that will be put on the Stevens business house in Mayfield. The building is owned by Dr. E. A. Stevens, and the third floor will be utilized as a lodge hall. The hall will be 64 feet wide and one of the nearest lodge rooms in western Kentucky. Several lodges are seeking to lease it. The probable cost of making the two-story building a three-story will be $3,000.

Charming Luncheon in Compliment to Debutante, Brides and Out-of-Town Guests.

Mrs. William F. Bradshaw, Jr., was the hostess at a beautiful luncheon today at 1 o'clock at her home, 1526 Broadway. The guests of honor were: Miss Eloise Bradshaw, a debutante of the winter, and her guest, Miss Mona Hudson, of Louisville; Miss Jessie Hopkins, of Atlanta, Ga., the house guest of Mrs. Bradshaw; Miss Helen Decker and Miss Frances Wallace, brides of the week, and Miss Lillie May Winstead, whose marriage in November has just been announced.

The table was charming in its appointments. Pink was the color-motif of the decorations. The cover was of Honiton lace and the centerpiece a pretty effect in pink Bridesmaid roses. At the plates of the three brides-elect the cards were brides in miniature, handpainted. The other place cards were hearts decorated with cupids. The luncheon was attractively served in six courses. Covers were laid for eighteen and the out-of-town guests included in addition to the guests of honor: The Misses Smith, of Chicago; Miss Patton, of Virginia; Miss Purcell, of Lexington; Mrs. Walker Butterfield, of Battle Creek, Mich.; Mrs. Fred Vercoe, of Columbus, O.

Gregory-Scott Wedding Invitations.

Invitations have been received in Paducah today to the wedding of Miss Elizabeth Gregory, of Louisville, and Mr. Charles Vaughan Scott, of this city, on Thursday, October 29, at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Woodland Presbyterian church, Louisville. Announcement of the approaching marriage was made several weeks ago. Miss Gregory has frequently visited in Paducah and is an exceedingly pretty girl. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gregory, of Louisville, and her mother as Miss Anna Bassett formerly resided here. Mr. Scott is one of Paducah's most popular young men with fine business qualifications. He belongs to a prominent family and is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Scott.

Delphi Club.

The Delphi club held an interesting meeting this morning at the club room in the Carnegie library. Legendary Greece was discussed in three delightful papers. "Early Grecian Myths" was comprehensively covered by Mrs. W. W. Powell. "The Search for the Golden Fleece" with reading of "Jason" by William Morris, was attractively given by Mrs. C. B. Aubrey. "The Trojan War" was ably handled by Mrs. Louis M. Riecke. Two new members, Mrs. Richard Terrell and Mrs. Saunders Fowler were added to the club.

Pretty Afternoon Tea for Brides-Elect

Miss Blanche Hills' Afternoon Tea from 4 to 6 o'clock is a pretty complement to two brides-elect, Miss Helen Decker and Miss Frances Wallace. The house is effectively decorated with hearts, smiles and flowers, the color-scheme of pink and white being artistically carried out. Receiving in the library with Mrs. Hills, Miss Hills, Miss Helen Decker and Miss Wallace are: Mrs. George Clayton Wallace, Mrs. Louis M. Riecke, Mrs. Walker Butterfield, of Michigan; Mrs. Fred Vercoe, of Columbus, O.; Miss Lucy Patton, of Richmond, Va.; Miss Pauline Purcell, of Lexington; Miss Myrtle Decker, Miss Belle Cave, Miss Lillie May Winstead.

In the dining room at a charmingly set tea table Mrs. Edwin Elmore Bewley, of Fort Worth, Tex., poured the tea and assisting her are: Miss Helen Hills and Miss Ethel Brooks. The pink and white heart motif is prettily carried out in the dining room decorations. The table is wreathed in smiles and bows of tulle extend from the chandelier to the ends of the table.

The punch bowl, which is attractively arranged in the parlor in a setting of pink, is presided over by Miss Lillian Gregory. Music is a feature of the occasion.

Councilman H. R. Lindsay, president of the council, is recovering from his illness.

Mrs. James A. Irvine, of Dresden, Tenn., has returned home after visiting Mrs. John W. Scott, 332 North Sixth street.

Mrs. S. Vanderveide has returned from Louisiana, Mo., where she visited her mother, who has been seriously ill.

EIGHTY YEARS OLD

Joseph Bankson, a Prominent Insurance Man and Much Esteemed Citizen of Bethany, Ill., Strongly Recommends

VINOL FOR OLD PEOPLE.

"I am past eighty years of age and for some time I had been losing strength and suffering from a chronic cold and lung trouble, until I was seriously ill and could not go out of doors. My son sent me some Vinol. I commenced to take it and it has simply worked wonders for me. I feel better and stronger than I have for years, and my cough is all gone. There is no other medicine equal to Vinol to build up health and strength for elderly people." Joseph Bankson, Bethany, Ill.

This is because Vinol is the best cod liver and iron tonic in the world. It creates a hearty appetite, strengthens the digestive organs, makes rich, red blood and replaces weakness with strength. The beneficial effect of Vinol in cases of feeble old people is simply remarkable.

We invite all old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, convalescents, or those suffering from chronic colds, coughs or bronchitis in this vicinity to try Vinol on our offer to return their money if it does no good. We make this offer to show our faith in Vinol.—W. B. McPherson, Paducah.

Mr. Robert Hicks, city license inspector, has returned from Henderson, where he attended the wedding of his sister.

Mr. David M. Flournoy returned to St. Louis last night after spending Sunday in Paducah with his family. Miss Pauline Purcell, of Lexington, Ky., arrived last evening to visit Miss Frances Wallace, 320 North Ninth street. She is one of the bridesmaids at the Wallace-Lattimer wedding this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar L. Gregory and Miss Lillian Gregory will leave Saturday for Buffalo, N. Y., where they have taken apartments at the Lenox hotel for the winter. They will visit in Danville, Ky., a few days en route to Buffalo.

John Van Culin, of New York, is in the city visiting his aunt, Mrs. E. C. Gans, and Mrs. Sarah Coleman. Mr. Van Culin is president of the Van Culin Chewing Gum company, of New York. He formerly lived in Paducah.—Hopkinsville News Era.

Judge D. G. Park has returned from Hopkinsville, where he attended court.

Mrs. Bettie Bondurant, of Memphis, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. K. Bondurant, of 592 North Sixth street.

Mr. Jack Taylor, of Maroon, Ill., was in the city this morning on his way to Metropolis.

Mr. J. B. Trull, of Birdsville, is in the city today on his way home after a trip through the west.

The Rev. W. E. Cave is very much improved today at his home, 214 North Seventh street. Last night Dr. Cave was restless, but today he has more strength than at any previous time since his illness began.

Mrs. James Koger and Mrs. Roy McKinney left last night for Bardonia to attend the state meeting of the Daughters of the Confederacy. Miss Mabel McNichols was the third delegate from Paducah, but she was unable to attend.

Jackson D. Armstrong, who tried to commit suicide October 2, is still alive. Armstrong is still weak, and his mind affected at times. He still has a chance to recover.

Mr. John Reid continues to improve at the Riverside hospital and he may be removed home in a few days.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carter, of 1636 Harrison street, a fine baby boy, last night.

Chauffeurs Are Striking.

New York, Oct. 12.—Police are guarding every prominent hotel and restaurant as the result of an attempt of striking chauffeurs to intimidate users of taxicabs. Strikers picketed the hotels and cafes to start riots when taxicabs appear. The police are unable to handle the rioters and several persons were hurt.

One day the office boy went to the editor of the Evening Eagle and said: "There's a tramp at the door, and he says he has had nothing to eat for six days."

"Fetch him in," said the editor. "If we can find out how he does it we can run this paper for another week."

DR. YOUNG

GOLOCONDA PHYSICIAN AND AN UNCLE OF MRS. J. P. SMITH.

Dies at Home and Will Be Buried There Tomorrow—Mr. Hayden Dies.

Dr. John B. Young, 65 years old, a prominent physician of Golconda, died last night at his home. His sister was Mrs. James A. Rose, of Springfield, Ill., who arrived this morning on a visit to her daughter, Mrs. James P. Smith. The funeral and burial will take place tomorrow and Mayor Smith and Mrs. Rose will leave tomorrow to attend.

R. H. Hayden Dies.

Mr. Robert H. Hayden, 69 years old, died this morning at 9 o'clock after a week's illness of heart trouble. Mr. Hayden was an attorney and had practiced law in this city for 3 years at 113 1/2 South Fourth street. He died at 914 Jones street. Mr. Hayden was born and reared in Caldwell county and for several years he lived at Benton, where his wife and several children now live. He is survived by his wife, Eva Copeland, a daughter, and a son, Herbert Hayden, of St. Louis, is another son.

The body of Mr. Hayden was taken to Benton this afternoon on the 2:15 train and the funeral and burial will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Benton.

Western Form.

James Ten Eyck, great oarsman and great coach, is teaching the sons of E. H. Harriman to row. He hopes that they will do in rowing what Jay Gould has done in court tennis.

Mr. Ten Eyck, discussing rowing one day in Syracuse, said success depended on form. He explained what he meant by form. Then, by way of illustration, he said:

"Everything, everything, goes by form. Thus, out West in the old days, I was the essence of form to be in formal. My father used to tell about a squire who would marry the young couple that came to him in some such form as this:

"'Bill, do ye take this gal whose hand ye're squeezin' to be yer lawful wife, in fash times an' skimp?'

"'I guess that's about the size of it, Squire.'

"'Name, do ye take this cross ye've findd flits with to be yer pard thru thick an' thin?'

"'Ye're right for once, old man!'

"'All right, then kins in court an' reckon ye're married about as tight as the law can fine ye. I guess four bits'll do, Bill, if I don't have to kiss the bride. If I do, it's six bits extra.'"

Advent of Dr. Bryan.

"But why enumerate any more instances. Let us come to a time a little nearer. In 1896 a great doctor arose out of the west, not only skilled as a surgeon, but possessed of convictions as to diagnosis. That doctor was William Jennings Bryan. He wasn't a graduate of any school of medicine, but he could diagnose any case and prescribe for it offhand. And let me pause to tell you, my friends, that as bad as the Democratic party has been, it never was as bad as William Jennings Bryan."

"That Dr. Bryan conceived that labor was being crucified on a cross of gold, and that a crown of thorns was being pressed down on its brow. 'But he had a remedy,' said Doctor Bryan, 'I have some new dope to try. Let me give you free copies of silver at the ratio of sixteen to one, and that will cure you of all your ills.' 'But the people wouldn't take Bryan's dope.'"

"Four years later up pops Doctor Bryan again. He has some new medicine. He has his old sixteen to one, but he has something about courts and injunctions, too. But again the people cried: 'We don't want your old medicine.'"

"All this time, mind you, Bryan was prophesying. As a prophet Bryan had Isaiah beat a hundred ways. The difference was that what Isaiah pro-

La France Shoe FOR WOMEN

A STYLISH FIT AND PERFECTLY COMFORTABLE

There Is a Difference Between Stylish Appearance in a Show-Window and Stylish Appearance on the Foot.

There is a difference between the comfort of a shoe that is made to fit and one made merely with an eye to beauty. La France shoes for women are unique in this respect—they combine the highest degree of grace and stylish beauty on the foot with perfect ease and comfort.

That is because the material which enters into every portion of the shoe from the sole upward is carefully chosen with a view to the particular requirements which it must meet.

Every woman who has bought a pair of La France shoes at this store knows that they hold their shape and present a smooth, dainty, unwrinkled appearance as long as they last—and that they last a surprisingly long time. Buy just one pair and you will realize how true all this is.

phesied came true, and what Bryan prophesied didn't come true. But then Bryan prophesied a lot more than Isaiah did.

"Bryan said if this demonization of silver didn't cease, everything you farmers had to sell would go down; but it went up. He said if we should have a war all the gold would go into hiding and we wouldn't have any money at all, and your crops would rot in the field. Well, we had the war, didn't we?—equipped an army quicker than it ever had been done before, business went right along with plenty of money and your products brought good prices, didn't they?"

"Then four more years passed and the next nostrum was militarism. Roosevelt, the untamed cowboy, would involve us in war. Roosevelt was elected, and he brought peace between South and Central American states, to Santo Domingo and to Russia and Japan. He stands today the greatest figure of peace in the world's history."

(Storms of applause.)
"Why, Doctor Billy Bryan! The impudence of your appearing again this year before these people, whom you have deceived so often and expecting them to believe anything you say!"

"He reminds me of a man at Shelbyville whose horse foaled a mule without care. He sent for a veterinary and asked him to put ears on the colt.

"Nobody in the world can put ears on that mule but William Jennings Bryan," said the veterinarian.

"I believe he can," said the farmer, "but what makes you think he can?"

"Well," answered the veterinarian, "if any man can put ears on a mule, William Jennings Bryan, who has made an ass of the Democratic party three times, is the man."

The New Bryan.
"But they tell us he has traveled around the world. He has graduated from one of those medical schools in Europe. He is a different Bryan now. Gracious, how that fellow has changed!"

"Let us see about this new Doctor Bryan. August 12, 1908, when a committee waited on him at Fairview, Nebraska, and notified him of his nomination for president, Doctor Bryan said:

Having twice before been a candidate for the presidency in campaigns which ended in defeat, a third nomination, the result of free and voluntary act of the voters of the party, can only be explained by a substantial and undisputed growth and in the principles and policies, for which I, with a multitude of others, have contended. As these principles and policies have given me whatever political strength I possess—[What principles and policies?—the action of the convention not only renews my faith in them—[mark you, renews his faith in them]—but strengthens my attachment to them.

"He is more attached to them than ever. To what? Free silver?—taxation of courts?—anti-injunction?—imperialism?"

"Doctor Bryan clings to his old nostrums. I'll tell you how Bryan is changed by relating a story of a man who joined church. The preacher asked an old slave how religion affected his master.

"Well, Remus, how is your master doing since he joined church? Has it changed him much?"

"O, yassah, yassah. Hit done change de massah heaps. Hit done, indeed. Afore he joined church, when he went out to chop wood on Sunday he carried his ax on his shoulder. Since he joined church when he goes out to chop wood on Sunday, he hiles the ax under his coat."

"Doctor Bryan has added two new quick remedies to his list. They are government ownership of railroads and guaranty of bank deposits. He wants us to buy the interstate railroads."

Senator Bradley then discussed government ownership, showing how it would bankrupt the country, and would build up a political machine of petty tyrants, and put the railroads beyond reach of lawsuits, because the government cannot be sued.

On the bank deposit guaranty he showed that when deposits are guaranteed, people will put their money in the reckless bank that offers an excessive rate of interest and promote speculation to the detriment of safe banks. He mentioned the fact that the national bankers' association denounced the theory as unsound and dangerous.

The Trusts.
"Doctor Bryan tells us of the trusts. Of course, he has a remedy. He says we Republicans foster the trusts. Yet the only three bills passed to regulate trusts and protect the public—the Sherman law, the Elkins law and the Hepburn act—were Republican measures."

"Every law for the benefit of the people introduced or enacted in the last half century are Republican measures. Cleveland pronounced the Sherman law unconstitutional, but Theodore Roosevelt prosecuted trusts under it, and the five Republican judges of the supreme court held it constitutional, and the three Democratic judges held it unconstitutional."

"What is Doctor Bryan's remedy for trusts? Why he would take the tariff off trust made goods and let goods made by the European trust in to compete, and then instead of one trust we should have two. He would lower wages of American working men, thereby reducing their ability to buy farm products. He also forgets that if a tariff reduction would kill a trust, it would kill the trust's small competitor first."

"He will make everyone who produces 25 per cent of a commodity take out a federal license, to do which he will have to employ federal spies on every man's business, and when a man produces 50 per cent of a product, he will stop him altogether. That isn't enough, though. He will make every man sell his product on the same terms to everybody. If you extend six months' credit to one customer, you must extend the same credit to all, whether their credit is good or not. If you take out the price in tobacco from one customer, and one of Bryan's spies telegraphs the information to Washington, back will come the answer that you must dispose of all your products for tobacco. Was there ever anything so nonsensical proposed before?"

Panics and Prosperity.
"But they say, 'We have a panic. You Republicans can't talk about panics now.'"

"Yes, we had a panic. There was a panic that involved the civilized world, and America, under a Republican administration, is the only country now that is emerging from it. Times are mending. Work is being resumed."

"Let us see something about this panic. From July 1, 1896, to July 1, 1908, under McKinley and Roosevelt our exports exceeded our imports by $2,020,000,000. For the 102 years before that our exports exceeded our imports by $643,000,000. In other words, in the twelve years the balance of trade in our favor was nine times what it was for the 102 years preceding. Last year our internal commerce was $400,000,000,000. Men have received big wages, our industries have been stimulated, and instead of competing with you in raising farm produce, they are working in town, consuming what you raise and keeping up the prices."

"Here is the effect of the tariff. Supposing I spend $1,000 buying in England. I have the goods but the $1,000 is gone out of our circulating medium forever."

"But, if I should buy goods with the $1,000 in New York, and the New York man should buy tobacco in Kentucky with it, and the Kentucky man should buy cotton in Tennessee with it, and the Tennessee man should buy mules in Missouri with it, and the Missouri man should buy wool in Ohio with it, the $1,000 would still be in the country, and it would have done the work of $5,000."

"Compare the panic of 1893 with the panic of 1908—a rich man's panic. Why you farmers hardly know there was any disturbance. You didn't lose anything, did you?"

"In 1893 your products dropped almost to nothing. In 1908 wheat is $1.04 a bushel, corn 84 cents, oats 50 cents and potatoes $3 a barrel. Your stock is high. Now, you Democrats, do you want a change? Do you want Bryan and his quack nostrums? He has deceived you twice before, and you have prospered under Republican rule; do you want a change?"

"Why will you listen to these demagogues when they come around here telling you you are being abused? If I should swear that this pitcher is not sitting on this desk, and get 20 other fellows to swear it, and you saw with your own eyes that it is there, wouldn't you know that we either were lying or were mistaken? Now, when a fellow comes around and tells you you are having hard times when you know you are prosperous, don't you know he is either lying to you or is mistaken?"

Women Are Interested.
Senator Bradley then paid a compliment to the ladies, and said they are deeply interested in prosperity, because when hard times come, the women and children suffer most, and he declared the women owe the deepest debt of gratitude to the Republican party."

He called on the colored voters to remember what the Republican party has done for them, and how the Democrats are disfranchising them.

He closed with a magnificent peroration, which aroused the greatest enthusiasm for Taft.

At the conclusion three bouquets were presented to Senator Bradley. Miss Bessie Owens presented one in behalf of the young ladies of Mayfield, and in responding Senator Bradley said the flowers were beautiful, but not half so beautiful as the givers.

Senator Bradley and his party returned to Paducah last evening and he spent the night at the Palmer House guest of the county executive committee.

Mistaken Identity.
Nobody was ever pictured so numerous in the public press as Mr. Roosevelt, unless it be Mr. Bryan; yet here is what it all comes to, as related by a New York World reporter accompanying the Bryan campaign outfit at Cumberland, Md.

Mr. Bryan was standing on the porch of the Queen City hotel this morning when a sweet-faced old lady stepped up to him and, holding out her hand, said: "Why, how do you do, Mr. Roosevelt? I am so glad to see you."

"There's some mistake," said Mr. Bryan, smiling and shaking her hand. "My name is Bryan."

"Oh," said the old lady, taken aback; "well, you do look like Mr. Roosevelt."

No girl treats a young man better than he sees her treat her mother.

NIP IT IN THE BUD.

First Appearance of Dandruff a Forerunner of Future Baldness.

That such is the case has been conclusively proven by scientific research. Prof. Unna, the noted European skin specialist, declares that dandruff is the burrowed-up cuticle of the scalp, caused by parasites destroying the vitality in the hair bulb. The hair becomes lifeless, and, in time, falls out. This can be prevented.

Newbro's Herpicide kills this dandruff germ, and restores the hair to its natural softness and abundance.

Herpicide is now used by thousands of people—all satisfied that it is the most wonderful hair preparation on the market today.

REPORTS FROM THIS SECTION ENCOURAGING.

State Headquarters Man Looks for Support of Governor Willson Out Here.

The Louisville Herald says:

"Information of a most encouraging character was received yesterday at Republican state headquarters from McCracken county. A prominent Republican of the state was sent into that section last week. Upon his return it was learned that the organization was perfected, the party was in excellent shape, and that the result of the election would be a Republican landslide.

"One of the chief reasons given for this opinion is the agitation of the tobacco question. The farmers of McCracken county who believe that they have had experiences since the tobacco troubles began which have convinced them of the rights in the question, say that they will support that party which gave them relief when it was needed, and will stand by the party that stood by them.

"They say that they are prosperous and therefore believe that the best policy is to let well enough alone. The reports are to the effect that many of the Democrats are dissatisfied with the principles advocated by their party and its stand on the tobacco and other questions, and for these reasons

Early Morning Fire.

Shingles around a flue in the home of Mr. T. J. Laurie, 830 Jefferson street, caught fire this morning about 9 o'clock, but the damage was trivial. The alarm was given but before the fire companies reached the home citizens rushed into the attic and with several buckets of water kept the fire from spreading. With a Johnson pump the fire ladders soon extinguished it after several square feet of shingles had been burned. Hose companies Nos. 1 and 3 and the truck from station No. 4 answered the alarm.

River stage at 7 o'clock this morning, L. B. a fall of 1 since yesterday morning. The J. B. Richardson arrived from Waterloo, Ala., last night at 7 o'clock with all the freight she could handle. She had 150 bales of cotton for Brookport, 2 cars of lumber for Metropolis and 200 bags of corn and peanuts for Joppa. The Richardson went down the river this morning to unload and will return tonight and receive freight till tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock, when she will leave for the Tennessee. The Richardson handled 900 bales of cotton on this trip.

The George Cowling made her two regular trips today from Metropolis here and return, doing a good passenger and freight business.

On account of the heavy fog on the river this morning, the ferryboat Bettie Owen did not make any trips until after 8 o'clock.

The Addie cleared at 8:30 o'clock this morning for Joppa and will return this afternoon.

The Indiana arrived from Dyessburg yesterday and returned this morning with a good freight business.

The L. N. Hook arrived from the Tennessee yesterday afternoon with a tow of ties. She left her tow at Paducah and is preparing to return to the Tennessee after another tow of ties.

The Pavana, a towboat belonging to the Ayer & Lord Tie company's fleet, will be inspected tomorrow.

The Egan, belonging to the West Kentucky Coal company, was raised yesterday afternoon and taken to Cairo. She will be repaired and continue towing coal in the Mississippi from Grand Tower to Memphis.

The R. Dunbar will be due Thursday night from Riverton, Ala., and all way landings.

A. C. Dallereth, an Illinois Central brakeman, was badly bruised and shaken up in a collision in the south yards this morning between engine 85, in charge of Engineer J. A. Harris, backing a cut of cars, and engine 876 in charge of Engineer Collin Lloyd. Brakeman Dallereth was brought to the Union station on engine 85 and the ambulance took him to the Illinois Central hospital.

An examination by the surgeons showed that no bones were broken or serious injury received, and he will be able to return to work in a few days.

The collision was caused by the heavy fog, the enginemen being unable to determine whether the track was clear or not.

Both engines were headed into the same sidetrack when the collision occurred. The injured brakeman, who was on a caboose, saw the impending danger and jumped just as the cut of cars was backed into engine 876. The caboose was badly torn up as were several box cars. Engine 876 was damaged. The wreck was picked up and hauled to the shops.

Liver Trouble Remedy Free

FOG CAUSES TWO ENGINES TO BUMP INTO EACH OTHER

Any intelligent person can be his own doctor in the ordinary case of liver trouble, for the symptoms cannot be mistaken. If the white of the eye becomes yellowish, if the skin becomes sallow, if pimples and blotches appear, if the bowels do not move, if you have sick headache, if you are bilious, you may be sure that your liver is torpid or inactive.

The quickest and surest remedy yet found for the cure of liver trouble or any of its symptoms is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great herb laxative compound. This wonderful remedy is not only a laxative, but a tonic as well. It will start the flow of gastric juice, thereby soon enabling the liver to do its work naturally. A bottle of this great liver remedy can be bought of any druggist for 50 cents or $1, and in many cases a single bottle has cured a chronic case.

For example, John W. Lee, 613 S. Pennsylvania ave., Indianapolis, Ind., had a stubborn and very long-standing case of liver trouble, with pimples, blotches, jaundice, etc., and it cured him. Mrs. H. Finchum, Jackson, Ky., says the same of it. Thousands of families keep it in the house against just such an emergency, as you can never tell when some member of the family will need a good laxative.

In order to have you or any other sufferer from the liver make a test of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin without personal expense, Dr. Caldwell will send you a free test bottle if you will send your name and address. The sample will show you how pleasant it is to take, how gently it works. It will start you on the cure of your trouble and convince you that you have found a cure. That is the object of the sample, and the doctor urges you to send for it today.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 507 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.
